Gentlemen:

Re: Your April 1, 1979 Software Agreement, as Amended, with Western Electric covering UNIX*/32V Time-Sharing System, Version 1.0 ("32V")

This supplements Mr. E. G. Baldwin's letter to you of April 5, 1982, which permitted you to distribute your version of source code for 32V to parties who are licensees of American Telephone and Telegraph Company ("AT&T") for UNIX System III. You have now requested that you be permitted to distribute such version of 32V to our licensees and
AT&T's licensees for UNIX System V.

Accordingly, we propose that you be permitted to distribute your version of source code for 32V to such licensees for UNIX System V provided that you:

- (i) verify the status of each requesting licensee by examining a copy provided by such licensee of such licensee's software
agreement for UNIX System V;
- (ii) confirm such status by telephoning Western Electric's Software
Sales and Marketing Organization on 919-697-6530;
- (iii) maintain a record of each such confirmation and distribution, such record to include, by licensee, the date of such confirmation, the name of the Western Electric person providing such confirmation, the date of distribution of your version of source code and the name of the person receiving your version;
and
- (iv) forward to Western Electric's Software Sales and Marketing Organization at the above address a copy of such record for the preceding three months within thirty (30) days after each March 31, June 30, September 30 and December 31.

We understand that your distribution of your version of 32V is fee-free except for a nominal service charge to cover the cost of distribution.
